Why 90% of Traders Lose Money

Most retail traders do the exact opposite of what works. They chase breakouts that fail. They sell breakdowns that reverse. They place stop losses at the most obvious levels.

Here's the truth nobody tells you:

What Retail Does	What Institutions Do
Buy breakouts at highs	Buy where others get stopped out
Sell breakdowns at lows	Sell where others get stopped out
Place stops at obvious levels	Hunt those obvious stops
Chase price	Let price come to them
Trade every signal	Wait for high-probability setups

■ The game is rigged — unless you understand how liquidity works.

The 3-Step Strategy

This is how institutional traders actually make money. It's simple — but most traders never learn it.

Step 1: Know Your Direction

Before taking ANY trade, determine if the higher timeframe is bullish or bearish. If you don't know the direction, you don't trade. Period.

Step 2: Wait for the Trap

Price will sweep above a high (or below a low) to grab stop losses. This is the "trap". Wait for price to CLOSE back inside — this confirms the trap is complete.

Step 3: Enter at the Gap

After the trap, look for a Fair Value Gap (FVG) — an imbalance left by the fast move. This is your entry point. Use a limit order. Let price come to you.

The Formula

Direction + Trap + Gap = High-Probability Trade

This is exactly what SweepSignal automates for you — finding these setups across 28 forex pairs, 24/7.
